HPNA Announces 2023 Award Winners

The Hospice and Palliative Nurses Association (HPNA) would like to congratulate the following individuals on being selected as 2023 HPNA award winners.

- New Investigator Award
William Rosa, PhD, MBE, NP-BC, FAANP, FAAN
The HPNA New Investigator Award recognizes the work of an individual in the beginning of his or her research career who has done high-quality research, specifically either a pilot or preliminary study which focused on clinical care, professional development, or advancement of palliative nursing.
- Distinguished Nursing Practice Award
Tracy Fasolino, PhD, APRN, FNP-BC, ACHPN
The HPNA Distinguished Nursing Practice Award recognizes a nurse who has long provided care for individuals with serious illness and their families in a manner that has clearly gone well beyond the “usual and expected” requirements.
- Vanguard Award
Pat Berry, PhD, APRN, CNP, ACHPN, GNP-BC, FPCN, FAAN
The HPNA Vanguard Award recognizes a nursing leader who has uniquely advanced expert care in serious illness.
- Distinguished Nursing Researcher Award
Lisa Lindley, PhD, RN, FPCN, FAAN
The HPNA Distinguished Nursing Researcher Award recognizes a nurse researcher who has demonstrated longevity and consistency in research that advances the mission and vision of HPNA through high-quality research, presentations, and publications in peer-reviewed journals.

- Volunteerism Award

Grace Cullen, DNP, FNP-BC, ACHPN, AOCNP, PMGT-BC

The HPNA Volunteerism Award recognizes an HPNA volunteer who demonstrates an ongoing commitment to serve the mission of HPNA through time donated, amount of responsibility assumed, and longevity of the volunteer project's impact.

- HPNA Champion Award

Amy Berman, RN, LHD, FAAN

The HPNA Champion Award, formerly known as the Presidential Citation Award, recognizes an individual who has made a significant impact on hospice and palliative care through advocacy, community involvement, or practice.
